
Norway battery energy storage project

What is Norway's battery strategy?

from fossil to renewable energy in Norway and abroad. The battery strategy forms part of the Government's Green Industrial Initiative, and the value chain for batteries is one of seven pillars in this initiative. The others are the value chains for offshore wind, hydrogen, carbon capture and storage (CCS)

Are batteries a potential green industry in Norway?

McKinsey & Co. has identified batteries as one of Norway's principal potential green industries in the future. According to the consultancy, a rapid and broad strengthening of all parts of the battery value chain is needed to satisfy the global battery shortage.

Does Norway have a battery market?

Today Norway has not one, but two huge battery markets. "There are two market drivers for batteries: EVs and stationary energy storage. Energy storage is coming on strong now. It's the key to turning intermittent wind and solar into a stable energy source," explains Ivar Runde, Head of Battery Norway.

What is the future of batteries in Norway?

will be 2.4 GWh in 2018, and rising to ~8.5 GWh in 2030. The net amount of batteries that will be available for reuse or recycling per year in Norway was estimated to approximately 0.6 GWh in 2025, and approximately 2.2 GWh in 2030. These batteries may potentially be reused for different areas of application, for example energy storage
